

Meet the new French President!

Recently elected Emmanuel Macron.

On the 8th May it was announced that France's new president would be 39 year old Emmanuel Macron.

Hundreds of Mr Macron's supporters gathered in central Paris to rejoice and celebrate the victory. Mr Macron beat his opponent Marine Le Pen by 66.06% to 33.94% and will now become the country's youngest ever president.

Throughout his campaign, there were key things Emmanuel Macron promised to achieve if he became president, including:

-  Children under 15 should be banned from using mobile phones in school;
-  People who need glasses or hearing aids shouldn't have to pay for them;
-  Reduce the amount of people who don't have jobs.

Celebrations outside Le Louvre, Paris

Cow ambulance service launches in Indian town

New ambulances, equipped with sirens and a doctor on board, will exclusively serve injured cows, in the latest of a series of schemes to improve the wellbeing of the animals, which are treated as sacred by most Hindus. Hinduism is a religion that views the role of mother to the level to that of a goddess. Therefore, the cow is considered a sacred animal, as it provides us life sustaining milk. The cow is seen as a maternal figure, a care taker of people. Besides their milk, cows also provide other practical purposes. On the farm, bulls are used to plough the fields and as a means of transportation of goods.

Since its recent launch, the ambulance service had received about 200 calls and was able to attend to about 25 cows a day.

Cows dressed for an Indian wedding.

Teen author writes a book about mental health

Emily Palmer, who is 19 and from Wiltshire, is the author of a book on mental health for young children called 'Scrambled Heads'.

Emily decided to write a book for children following her own experiences of suffering with stress when she was younger and wanted to help younger children make sense of their own feelings. She was keen to get Scrambled Heads published as she hadn't seen anything like it before. "I hope Scrambled Heads can bridge a gap in the education of mental health with children,"

Emily Palmer

Palmer said. "I hope it encourages families to get talking with their children about mental health, so children know what mental health is and feel like they can ask for help, if and when they need it."

To find out more visit Emily's page found here:

www.scrambledheadsbook.wordpress.com

What do you think about tests?

Some of the Y6 children at Northgate Primary told us how they felt about their recent SATs tests. Do you agree with their opinions?

Testing is very intense. I felt a lot of pressure to prove everything I know. I'm glad it's over! Jess

We've been working for most of the year for these tests so I wanted to show what I had learnt. I wasn't too worried. Harry

I think we are still quite young to be tested but we will be tested all the way through school so I suppose we may as well start now! Annabelle

YOUR COMMENTS

Email: help@picture-news.co.uk

or post to: Picture House, Hungate, Evestone, North Yorks, HG4 3EX